3 Choose your Instructor

Most instructors are passionate HR practitioners with a strong desire to positively impact future HR leaders. We suggest that you identify someone with strong HR practical experience who can provide real life examples to deliver your courses. It is preferred that the instructor holds an HRCI credential because it provides first-hand knowledge of the application and testing processes. To successfully prepare candidates to pass, a good instructor will cover the information in the exam content outline while addressing how to select the correct answer according to the format of the rigorous certification exam.

4 Launch Your Program

Know your market and who your best candidates are for HRCI certifications. We will provide you with HRCI logos and HRCI certification seals as well as the CPP toolkit to help you promote HRCI certifications. HRCI will include your organization's website with information about your courses in the CPP online directory.

Be familiar with the size, hours of operation and location of the nearest Pearson VUE test center where your students will be take their HRCI certification exams.
